UNIVERSITY

Nearly 50 years ago, we channeled our strengths in therapy, education, and art, and founded Expressive Therapies.

We are the only university in the world that teaches all five specializations—art therapy, music therapy, dance/movement therapy, drama therapy, and expressive arts therapy.

You'll come to understand the use of creativity in healing from a broader perspective as you master your chosen specialization as well as learn from others. Our alumni create pathways as arts therapists, clinical supervisors, school counselors, substance abuse counselors, and in other helping positions. Every day, they help to heal individuals, families, and communities.

WE'LL PUT YOU TO WORK.

Connecting theory to practice is one of our founding principles. You'll discover the therapist you are during immersive and guided internships, while you conduct original research, or as you complete independent studies. You'll work at schools, hospitals, shelters, outpatient clinics, adoption centers, community centers, and other respected partner organizations in the area.

CAMBRIDGE IS OUR CAMPUS.

The Cambridge and Boston area is more than a home to some of the finest clinics, schools, and health organizations in New England. It's also a center of daily artistic, cultural, and musical events that will nourish your growth and development as an expressive therapist.

THE BENEFITS OF A RENOWNED PROGRAM WITHIN A BIGGER UNIVERSITY.

Situated in a larger, well-resourced university, our Graduate School of Arts and Social Sciences has fewer than 900 students. You'll have the opportunity to get to know and learn from one another's disciplines, as well as peers in counseling & psychology, and mindfulness. Lesley's Expressive Therapies programs are offered at the undergraduate through doctoral level, which provides you with unique, expansive research and library resources, and unparalleled access to an accomplished group of faculty and diverse internship opportunities.

As the founder of Expressive Therapies, our program is the largest of its kind. We continue to lead this ever-growing field with innovating practitioners who attract students from all over the world.
